President de la Madrid so far has been unwilling to take the necessary measures to allow Mexico to meet its 1985 IMF targets. Slashes in investment will not bridge the widening gap between government revenues and expenditures, and the President probably will have to make unpopular personnel and subsidy cuts. We doubt de la Madrid will go far enough to satisfy the IMF, however.
Mexico's stopgap measure in early July that established a free-market rate for tourist expenditures had a minimal effect on slowing the drain on foreign exchange reserves temporarily. However, we believe that Mexico will be forced soon to devalue the peso across the board. Nonetheless, even a substantial devaluation will not solve the country's financial problems especially if oil prices continue to drop. In discussions with the IMF, the Mexicans are likely to plead extenuating circumstances and ask for easier terms. Bankers probably will consider new loans only if the Fund declares that Mexico is in compliance with its IMF program.
International banks expect to complete the final phase of Mexico's $48.7 billion debt rescheduling at the end of July. This phase covers $20.1 billion in debt maturing between 1985-1990. The agreement will contain the controversial Mexican plan to allow foreign creditor banks to offer shares in Mexican public companies to foreign investors, with proceeds from the purchases going to the foreign bank to repay Mexican debt.	] ;
Under the terms of the agreement, Mexico will complete its prepayment of $1 billion to its creditor banks starting in September. The payments are to be made in two installments before the end of 1985.
Brazil
Brazilian officials will attempt to reach an agreement with the IMF for a standby facility when they resume negotiations with Fund representatives on 15 July,  To help pave the way for an agreement, Brasilia announced measures in early July to reduce the projected $18 billion public sector deficit	2! 2
for this year by 36 percent.  we believe	2

developments during recent talks with bankers regarding multiyear debt restructuring. According to the US Consulate in Sao Paulo, however, Central Bank President Lemgruber aroused creditor concerns at a luncheon with bankers late last month by raising the prospect of reopening negotiations on many issues in the debt talks that had already been resolved. Moreover, he stated in a press interview around the same time that Brazil may have to negotiate a capitalization of interest on its entire foreign debt if bank creditors	2
do not resume voluntary lending in the future.	2

Argentina
Bankers report growing confidence that the $4.2 billion jumbo loan will be fully subscribed. As of 16 July the facility was $40 million short. We believe Argentina will be able to demonstrate sufficient compliance with its IMF targets to gain access to the first tranche of $2.2 billion in bank funds by mid-September and IMF standby loan funds—totalling $230 million by 15 August and another $230 million by late-September. President Alfonsin has been successful in engendering strong public support for the wage and price freeze announced 14 June, and he appears politically stronger than at any time since his inauguration. With a clearly defined austerity program and the absence of any credible political opposition, we doubt he will backslide on his program any time soon.	25X1 25X1
Nevertheless, the Alfonsin stabilization program will likely face challenges in the coming months. The financial press already indicates that bankers and business analysts foresee some serious problems in retaining popular support as the economy contracts and layoffs increase. Additionally, we believe the government may continue to experience difficulty in collecting taxes, a key to reducing the deficit in the short run.	25 X 1

After a six-month stalemate, Chile's debt package is now moving along. The IMF agreed in principle on 15 July to a three-year, $765 million extended fund facility, clearing the way for a 17 July Paris Club rescheduling of $170 million, according to press reporting.

Santiago expects to receive around $1 billion in new funds before year, according to US Embassy reporting. The government assumes to make its first disbursement in August, bankers will begin final signing package before September, and the World Bank cofinancing loan will approved by October. President de la Madrid recently told US officials he opposes Castro's radical approach and Argentine Foreign Minister Caputo has termed Castro's debt moratorium proposal "dangerous".	, l
Meanwhile, hundreds of Western Hemisphere political figures, academics, and religious leaders have been invited to another debt conference in Havana on 30 July. The US Embassy in Buenos Aires reports Argentine President Alfonsin turned down Castro's invitation, and press reports indicate Colombian President Betancur also declined.	1
Eastern Europe
In Eastern Europe, Poland and its Western creditors signed an agreement to reschedule $11 billion in overdue debt payments. Romania's financial situation has deteriorated and the nation is now facing a severe foreign exchange shortage
Yugoslavia
Talks between US bankers and Yugoslav officials aimed at resolving the IMF's role in monitoring Yugoslav economic performance—a major stumbling block to a multiyear rescheduling agreement—ended in New York on 13 July.  Yugoslavs, and the IMF agreed that in lieu of another standby program after April 1986, the Fund would conduct enhanced monitoring consisting of two Article IV reviews annually. The Fund would measure Yugoslav trade and financial performance against as yet unspecified "trigger" criteria. If performance fell below these standards, Belgrade could be required to take policy action to correct the problem and possibly negotiate a new standby program with the Fund. The banks want the enhanced monitoring to extend through 1991 while the Yugoslavs want to limit it to 1990.
Talks with the full International Coordinating Committee to reschedule \$3.5 billion in debt maturing in 1985-88 are now expected to resume later this month. The key unresolved issues are interest rates and length of the rescheduling period.	$\exists$
agreement with the banks before 15 August it will be not be able to draw the second tranche of its IMF standby credit.	]
Yugoslavia's hard currency account and trade deficits continue to show a sharp deterioration in comparison to 1984. The convertible currency account through April 1985 showed a deficit of $359 compared to a $31 surplus last year. The trade deficit of $521 million for the first 4 months was over three times the deficit for the same period last year. Through 10 June, exports to hard currency areas were down 3 percent and imports up 9 percent from 1984.
Poland
Poland and the Paris Club of Western creditor governments signed an accord on 15 July rescheduling approximately $11 billion in overdue debt from 1982-84 over a period of 11 years with five years grace, according to press reports. The agreement was initialed earlier this year, but formal signing was delayed when Warsaw tried to obtain new credits from the governments and failed to make required payments on arrears from the 1981 rescheduling agreement. To implement the agreement, Warsaw must now complete payments on arrears from the 1981 agreement, sign bilateral accords with individual governments and make interest payments on the rescheduled debt.

We estimate that Warsaw can cover only about half of the $900 million due to governments under the agreement this year if it continues to give priority to imports and paving bank creditors. The Poles will probably demand new credits in the bilateral negotiations, but Western governments seem reluctant to extend new loans. The Paris Club has indicated it will reassess the agreement if Poland cannot meet its obligations, but the governments probably would demand that Warsaw negotiate new rescheduling terms with the banks as well to ensure equal treatment of creditors.
Romania
Romania's financial situation has deteriorated in recent months, and Bucharest may need debt relief by late this year.	2
Shortages of cash have caused Romania to be late on payments to the IMF since April. The US Embassy in Bucharest reports increasingly frequent complaints from Western firms about missed payments.	2
If Romania's payment problems continue to worsen, pressures to reschedule debt and renew IMF supervision will build. This would be particularly galling to President Ceausescu, who was humiliated by having to reschedule in 1982 and 1983 and has complained of IMF interference. Ceausescu may have no choice except to acquiesce because of the bleak economic outlook.
Asia
In Asia, drawings on the Philippine financial package continue to be delayed, and Korea introduced a plan to bail out some of its major banks.	2
Philippines
On 1 July, the Philippine government requested its eighth 90-day moratorium on all foreign debt obligations as drawings on the financial rescue package continue to be delayed and negotiations continue on rescheduling individual loan agreements.
The second tranche of IMF funds—originally scheduled to be released in April—continues to be withheld until the Managing Director can determine whether the revised and of May targets have been met.	2

According to Embassy reporting, however, IMF officials indicate that the program is on track and that the tranche is likely to be released on 31 July. IMF approval would allow Manila to draw the $107 million second tranche disbursement which would in turn trigger the first release from the $925 million new money package from the commercial creditors. After it begins drawing from the new money package, Manila would then be able to tap into the $3 billion revolving trade credit facility.	25X1
Korea enacted a plan to keep its major corporations and banks financially solvent.	25X1 25X1
According to Embassy reporting, in a kind of "bail out for banks" the BOK will make concessional loans to commercial banks at a 3 percent interest rate—down from the normal 6 percent. A $17 billion special account has been established for this purpose and commercial banks will be allowed to rollover existing borrowings at the lower rate. The Korean government believes these measures will keep most of the major corporations solvent, maintain employment levels, and ensure economic growth.	25X1 25X1
The enthusiastic acceptance of a Korea Development Bank syndicated loan is indicative of bankers' continued willingness to take Korean exposure. The $650 million facility was oversubscribed and increased from the original offer of $600 million. The 8 year loan consists of two tranches: $409 million at an interest rate of .62575 percentage point above LIBOR and $241 million priced at the US prime rate plus .1 percentage point.	25 X 1
